

Conakry – June 19, 2025 — The Board of Directors of Nimba Development Company (NDC), chaired by Sir Sam Esson Jonah – founder of AngloGold Ashanti and founding chairman of EcoBank – arrived in Conakry this Thursday morning. This visit is part of strategic discussions with Guinean authorities to review progress on the Nimba mining project.

During their stay, board members will meet with the country's official representatives to share the advances made on the project, whose first ore export is scheduled for September 2025. The notable progress achieved so far has strengthened investor confidence in the Nimba project as well as in Guinea's investment climate.

On this occasion, the NDC Board of Directors will also explore new investment opportunities in Guinea's mining sector, reaffirming the company's commitment to the country's sustainable development.

About Nimba Development Company

Nimba Development Company ("NDC") is a modern mining company focused on resource development in West Africa.

For media inquiries, please contact:

Nimba Development Company

media@ndcguinea.com